

Subject "The Good Companions,"
by J.B. Priestley (novel)

Harper + Brothers
[49 E 33rd St.]

1932

February 24, 1932.

Harper and Brothers
49 East 33rd Street
New York City.

Gentlemen:

I am sending you herewith a book,
"The Good Companions" by Priestley. In getting to page 486 we find a missing signature so pages 487 to 519 are missing. Naturally we would like a perfect copy. I remain,

Very truly yours,

HW:JG

Curator

Angel Pavement

By J. B. PRIESTLEY

Author of "The Good Companions"

Just off the main stream of London's business traffic is a quiet, respectable back-water of shabby little offices known as Angel Pavement. It is revealed to us as a tiny cosmos, harboring every aspect of city life today. It forms a miniature reflection of the world, so perfect that it can be individually seen and interpreted by every reader.

Adventure came to Angel Pavement in the person of Mr. Golspie. He descended from the Baltic, swooped down upon the firm of Twigg & Dersingham, and in the twinkling of an eye transformed their slumbering office. He electrified young Dersingham, the personification of heartiness and old school spirit. He brought new life to Smeeth, faithful accountant, haunted by the fear of losing his job. He fascinated the superior typist, Miss Matfield, because she couldn't decide what to think of him. He brought romance in the shape of his daughter to Turgis, the junior clerk. And the fever-pitch of excitement for which Mr. Golspie was responsible radiated from Angel Pavement into the widely scattered homes and lives of all these people.

The same rich, refreshing quality that characterized The Good Companions is in this book, the same wisdom and humor and broad observation of life. Angel Pavement strikes that deep chord of universal recognition which is the hall-mark of great literature.

HARPER & BROTHERS
P u b l i s h e r s

No. 1660

615-519
487-687

March 8, 1932.

Harper and Brothers
49 East 33rd Street
New York City.

Gentlemen:

On February 24th we mailed you a copy of ~~The~~ Good Companions that had pages 487 to 519 missing, with the request that we desired a perfect copy. To date we have received no reply from you.

Very truly yours,

HW:JG

Curator

ESTABLISHED
1817

CABLE ADDRESS: HARPSAM
TELEPHONE: ASHLAND 4-1900

HARPER & BROTHERS

PUBLISHERS

NEW YORK AND LONDON

49 EAST 33RD STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y.

The American Numismatic Society
Broadway between 155th & 156th St.
New York City

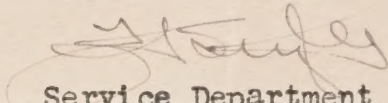

March 9, 1932

Gentlemen:

Att: H. Wood

Your letter of March 8th has been referred to this department. According to our records a perfect copy of GOOD COMPANIONS was sent you on the 7th. We trust this has now reached you.

Very truly yours,
HARPER & BROTHERS

Service Department

FHS:MM

March 11, 1932.

Harper & Brothers
49 East 33rd Street
New York City.

Gentlemen:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the copy of GOOD COMPANIONS that you substituted for an imperfect copy.

Very truly yours,

HW:JC

Curator